

Dear Patron,

The past week has been a sad one for all of us at Shen Yun Promotions International—the organization that presents Shen Yun Performing Arts in New York. We are disappointed at being unable to deliver to you the theatrical experience that many have described as “full of hope and spirit” and “uplifting.” In these strange and uncertain times, we wish you strength and courage, and together we look forward to the bright days ahead.

As you may know, Shen Yun is a New York-based performing arts group dedicated to reviving 5,000 years of traditional Chinese culture that’s been lost in communist China today. Despite its global success, Shen Yun has been, since its inception in 2006, the subject of repeated interference and sabotage by the Chinese communist regime. Consequently, we have to work extra hard in order to succeed in a market like New York.

As a non-profit organization, we rely on public support for our livelihood, and thus don’t have a contingency budget for such a large-scale cancellation. We greatly cherish each one of our patrons, so in this devastating situation, we strive to do our best to offer you good options: a gift card with value greater than your purchase amount, or a full refund.

We sincerely hope you exchange your ticket for a gift card. This allows you to experience the beauty of Shen Yun while truly helping us out in this very difficult situation. Thank you!
